Employment pathways for job seekers in remote communities

You need support to get ready for a job.

> You join the new Remote Australia Employment Service (RAES).

The RAES helps you get ready for a job and find work.

You may get training, or you might join a community project.

You will get support in your location.

You are ready to get a job.

You could get a job created by the Remote Jobs and Economic Development (RJED) program.

AN THE THE PERSON OF THE PERSO

The RJED program is creating 3,000 local jobs until 2027.

Communities have a say in the jobs they need and want.

Jobs have good pay and conditions, like superannuation and leave.

You could get an existing local job.
